- He is the most diligent and helpful tutor I have ever seen so far in my life, and his contributions to this econometrics course are countless and hard to express using proper words. Please do give him an appraisal for his work done so far for me. Thank you!
- Hormoz has been a Godsend! Honestly do not know how I would understand the material without him. He puts so much effort into everything he does for us and it is well received and appreciated!
- Hormoz is fantastic and don't even think about getting rid of tutorial for Econometrics!
- I really liked his tutorials, pretty clear explanations and very responsive to questions in class and outside of class in relation to the assignments for the class. He is also very knowledgeable and very good at teaching, which can be a hard combination to get sometimes. He is also very kind what is definitely a very good plus because as a student we want professors with social skills as well, it is really important to transmit knowledge effectively.
- Really helpful both at teaching the material and in coordinating/advocating for us in a very fragmented module - absolutely essential and Hormoz really went above and beyond making sure everyone understood the necessary material, responding to emails v promptly outside class time.

In general (though this is largely due to the module organisation) there wasn't really time to cover both the concepts and Matlab techniques. It would have possibly been more useful to have more regular dedicated computer sessions and slightly fewer theoretical/calculations sessions.

- Very helpful and patient. He spent a lot of time not only helping us understand the lecture in depth but also enhancing our knowledge in econometrics. In addition, his in-class questions for the tutorial and problem sets are designed very well both for understanding the theory and practicing sufficiently. I really appreciated his help.
